Registration of new School of Music graduate students for many required core classes has been completed (see below). (Be reminded that you will not be registered for your studio lessons until your studio teacher assignment is confirmed.) You will need to choose courses to complete your class schedule (see below). You must be registered for 36 units to be a full-time student.

Registration of students with special circumstances - graduate degree: music education, music and technology; graduate nondegree: music education certification - is starting now. If you are in one of these categories, please email me if you have questions about your class schedule.

TO NOTE

 Unless you are changing graduate programs or there is a question related to your enrollment status, you should now have a CMU student record and a CMU email account.

 If you have not already submitted an official transcript that certifies the completion of your undergraduate degree, you must submit this transcript as soon as you can to the following address: School of Music, Carnegie Mellon University, 5000 Forbes Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15217 attn: Sharon Johnston

 Registration for new School of Music graduate students is available now. You can register yourself for some or all of your classes from now until the 10th day of the Fall 2016 semester. You must be registered for 36 units to be a full-time student.

Beginning on July 20, 2016, we will register you for as many of your required core classes as we can for which you have not already registered. You will be able to view your class schedule on Student Information Online. See Enrollment FAQ and note the following details:
You will not be registered for your studio lessons until your studio teacher assignment is confirmed.

* MM students: You will need to choose a music support and/or an elective course or courses. You are required to register yourself for these courses.
* Advanced Music Studies students: You will need to choose a music elective and/or a general elective course or courses. You are required to register yourself for these courses. Audio Recording and Production and Piano Maintenance students, please email me about your support course requirement.

How to choose a music support course?
Go to http://www.music.cmu.edu/pages/insidemusic and click on Registration and Scheduling Information.
For information about music support courses being offered this fall, click on Class Schedule>Music Schedule of Music Support Classes.
For information about music support courses being offered in future semesters, click on Class Information>Music Support Courses Two-Year Rotation.

How to choose an elective course?
Go to http://www.music.cmu.edu/pages/insidemusic and click on Registration and Scheduling Information.
For information about elective courses being offered this fall, click on Class Schedule>CMU Schedule of Classes.
All graduate students: Elective courses can be any graduate courses (if not specified as music courses).
MM students only: Elective courses can also be some undergraduate courses totaling up to 12 units.

Standard class schedules will be entered first. Then class schedules will be modified for students with special circumstances: graduate degree - music education, music and technology; graduate nondegree – music education certification. If you are in one of these categories, and we are not yet in communication about your class schedule, please email me about your class schedule by June 30, 2016.

If you have a question, you may find the answer by doing the following:

- Read the information in and attached to this message.
- Check other School of Music and Carnegie Mellon University websites.

If you don’t immediately find an answer to your question, please don’t hesitate to contact me. There are never too many questions! And, the answer to your question may help another student, as well as you.
