Carnegie Mellon University Statement of Assurance

Carnegie Mellon University does not discriminate in admission, employment, or administration of its programs or activities on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, handicap or disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, creed, ancestry, belief, veteran status, or genetic information. Furthermore, Carnegie Mellon University does not discriminate and is required not to discriminate in violation of federal, state, or local laws or executive orders.

Inquiries concerning the application of and compliance with this statement should be directed to the vice president for campus affairs, Carnegie Mellon University, 5000 Forbes Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15213, telephone 412-268-2056.

The Statement of Assurance can also be found on-line at: http://www.cmu.edu/policies/documents/SoA.html.

The Carnegie Mellon Code

Students at Carnegie Mellon, because they are members of an academic community dedicated to the achievement of excellence, are expected to meet the highest standards of personal, ethical and moral conduct possible.

These standards require personal integrity, a commitment to honesty without compromise, as well as truth without equivocation and a willingness to place the good of the community above the good of the self. Obligations once undertaken must be met, commitments kept.

As members of the Carnegie Mellon community, individuals are expected to uphold the standards of the community in addition to holding others accountable for said standards. It is rare that the life of a student in an academic community can be so private that it will not affect the community as a whole or that the above standards do not apply.

The discovery, advancement and communication of knowledge are not possible without a commitment to these standards. Creativity cannot exist without acknowledgment of the creativity of others. New knowledge cannot be developed without credit for prior knowledge. Without the ability to trust that these principles will be observed, an academic community cannot exist.

The commitment of its faculty, staff and students to these standards contributes to the high respect in which the Carnegie Mellon degree is held. Students must not destroy that respect by their failure to meet these standards. Students who cannot meet them should voluntarily withdraw from the university.

Degree Attainment

The following policy was taken from the School of Music Master of Music General Academic Requirements and Academic Actions policy, which can be found here.

Students who are accepted to begin work in the master of music program at Carnegie Mellon University are not automatic candidates for the degree. They must complete 36 units (12 credit hours) of graduate courses with a cumulative QPA of at least 3.0 before they may be considered as candidates for the master of music. Furthermore, the grade of at least a B must be earned each semester in the student’s major area.

All master of music candidates are required either to pass basic competency examinations in music history and theory, or if failing to pass the examination, then to pass with a grade of B- or better the appropriate graduate courses before they may receive the degree. All competency examinations and/or coursework must be completed before registering for the third semester of study at Carnegie Mellon.

Master of music candidates in performance must perform a minimum of one full recital. All master of music candidates must pass a comprehensive review in their major area. Successful completion of this review is a requirement for graduation.

Students will complete all requirements for the master’s degree within a maximum of seven years from original matriculation as a master’s student, or less if required by a more restrictive department, school or college policy. Once this time-to-degree limit has lapsed, the person may resume work towards a master’s degree only if newly admitted to a currently offered master’s degree program under criteria determined by that program. Under extenuating circumstances, such as leave of absence, military or public service, family or parental leave, or temporary disability, a college/school may, upon the relevant department’s recommendation and with the written approval of the dean (or designate), defer the lapse for a period commensurate with the duration of that interruption. Students who are pursuing the master’s degree as part-time students for all semesters of their program, as approved by their program, may also appeal to their program or department for extension of the time to degree limit. This rule will apply to all master’s students matriculating at Carnegie Mellon University beginning in Fall 2012. The applicable previous Master’s Student Statute of Limitations policy will apply to a master’s student who matriculated at Carnegie Mellon University previous to Fall 2012.

Normally, graduate credit earned at other institutions will not be accepted toward a graduate program at Carnegie Mellon. Students may petition for an exception to this policy.

Students will receive a “WARNING” if they fail to maintain professional standards in a required course or a cumulative 3.0 QPA. Warning action is intended to notify students of unsatisfactory work, so that they may take steps to determine and correct the difficulty. Graduate students may be dropped from their programs at any time if the faculty believes that they are failing to maintain the professional standards of the school or failing to make sufficient progress during any semester.
Statute of Limitations

As outlined in the Master’s Students Statute of Limitations, http://www.cmu.edu/policies/documents/MastersStudentStatuteLimitations.html, students who have matriculated at Carnegie Mellon beginning Fall 2012 will complete all requirements for the master’s degree within a maximum of seven years from original matriculation as a master’s student, or less if required by a more restrictive department, school or college policy. Once this time-to-degree limit has lapsed, the person may resume work towards a master’s degree only if newly admitted to a currently offered master’s degree program under criteria determined by that program.

Under extraordinary circumstances, such as leave of absence, military or public service, family or parental leave, or temporary disability, a school or college may, upon the relevant department's recommendation and with the written approval of the dean (or designate), defer the lapse for a period commensurate with the duration of that interruption. Students who are pursuing a master’s degree as part-time students for all semesters of their program, as approved by their program, may also appeal to their program or department for extension of the time to degree limit.

Full-time Status and Part-time Status

Full time graduate students are required to maintain a course load of 36 units per semester. Anything below a status of 36 units, even if the student was originally registered for 36 or more units and dropped below that number, is considered part time.

School Registration Process and Procedures

Registration (Checklist)

1. Check your enrollment status! Make sure that you are financially cleared and that your academic information is correct.
   a. Check Student Information On-line (SIO) at: https://acis.as.cmu.edu/sio to confirm your enrollment status, class level and home department.
2. View the School of Music Class Schedule or University Class Schedule to locate specific classes.
   a. The School of Music schedule is at: http://music.cfa.cmu.edu under Registration and Scheduling Information>Class Schedule. The Carnegie Mellon University schedule is at: https://enr-apps.as.cmu.edu/open/SOC/SOCServlet
   b. Class type (music support, etc.) is found on the School of Music Class Schedule. Course descriptions and notes are found on the University Class Schedule by clicking on the course number. In addition to department, the University Class Schedule can be searched by mini courses only, course level, instructor, starting time, and keyword.
3. Draft your class schedule on the Registration Worksheet or at Draft your class schedule on the Registration Worksheet or at Student Information Online (SIO) (http://www.cmu.edu/hub/sio).
   a. The Music Curriculum Checklists, Registration Checklist, Registration Class Instructions, Registration Worksheet, and other registration information can be found in CFA 108 and/or at: http://music.cfa.cmu.edu
4. Make an appointment to meet with Sharon Johnston, the School of Music undergraduate academic advisor, or Natalie Ozeas, the School of Music graduate academic advisor, to discuss your scheduling options.
a. Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas can assist you with planning your class schedule, evaluating your academic progress, and checking your graduation requirements.

b. MEETING WITH YOUR ACADEMIC ADVISOR IS RECOMMENDED. IF NOTIFIED, MEETING WITH YOUR ACADEMIC ADVISOR BEFORE REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED.

c. Also, you may wish to make an appointment to meet with your studio teacher, who is your professional advisor; and if applicable, the faculty member who is also your professional advisor and mentor. (If you don’t have a professional advisor/mentor and you are interested in having one, please see Sharon Johnston.)

5. Double check to make sure that the classes you are taking are applicable to your curriculum requirements!

a. It is wise to review your Music Curriculum Checklist prior to making any final decisions on which classes to take and to then discuss any questions or concerns you may have with Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas.

6. Be aware of exceptions that may affect you.

a. If you anticipate registering for an overload (depending on your current QPA, over 58 or 70 units for undergraduate students, or over 48 units for graduate students), please complete and submit a registration worksheet to Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas BEFORE you register.

b. If you are a graduate student, and anticipate registering for a class with an undergraduate course number only, please complete and submit an undergraduate credit petition to Natalie Ozeas BEFORE you register. You may register for up to 12 units of undergraduate classes as electives without special permission – certain restrictions apply.

7. Once you have checked your enrollment status, drafted your schedule, and double checked your requirements, go online and register.

a. Online Registration is located at: Student Information Online (SIO)
   http://www.cmu.edu/hub/sio

b. Registration dates and times are located at: Student Information Online (SIO)
   http://www.cmu.edu/hub/sio on the Plan Course Schedule page under the Course Schedule tab

c. All students must register at their assigned times. You must be enrolled (registered and financially cleared) by the first day of the semester. You may continue to add classes until the add deadline.

d. In some cases, you may need to be registered as full-time (36 units total) in order for your loan to be processed.

e. You should register first for what you’re behind in, second for what you need now, and third for what you want now. When in doubt, follow the instructions. Be careful! Register for the correct course numbers (if there are two numbers, the graduate number is the higher number of the two), section letters, units (if the class has variable units), and co-requisites (if applicable).

8. Register as soon as possible.

a. Don’t procrastinate! You may not get a space in your preferred section of a class, or in a class with limited spaces. In some instances, you may need to schedule an appointment with Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas to discuss registering for a specific class. Do this as soon as possible in order to avoid the possibility of being put on a class waitlist. Once you are on a waitlist, it is not assured that a space will be reserved for you in that specific class! If the class is needed for graduation or for any other critical purpose, schedule an appointment with Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas to discuss your options.

9. Once you have completed your registration, you can change it.
   a. If you want to add or drop a course, speaking first with Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas is recommended. If it is a required music course, petitioning to drop the course is required. Then, go to SIO and either add or drop the course. If there is a problem doing so, see Sharon Johnston or Natalie Ozeas. Once you are eligible to begin the registration process, you can continue the process until the add and drop deadlines of the applicable semester.

10. Track your curriculum progress online.
    a. Check how many classes and units you have taken, what your grades are, and what your current cumulative QPA is by doing a Carnegie Mellon University Academic Audit at: https://acis.as.cmu.edu/gale2/audit/degreeaudit.html

Registration (Cross Registration)
Carnegie Mellon University students are permitted to cross-register at any of the ten Pittsburgh Council of Higher Education (PCHE) institutions for courses not offered at Carnegie Mellon. The opportunity to cross-register is open to all full-time graduate and undergraduate students. Students will not be charged any additional tuition charges; however, they must pay special course or laboratory fees to the host institution if necessary. Students do not acquire status at the host institution, but they will have library and bookstore privileges. Cross-registration applies to fall and spring semesters only. Students must be registered for at least 36 units prior to adding a PCHE course.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR OUTGOING CROSS-REGISTRATION:
1. Complete the cross-registration form in its entirety including all required course information as well as obtaining advisor and dean's signatures. Student's advisor and dean are responsible for assuring eligibility for the course in which the student intends to enroll. If student is registering for a course at the University of Pittsburgh, both the course number and the CRN number listed in their catalog should be included. If the class has a restriction or special permission requirement, the student must go directly to the University of Pittsburgh's offering department and request and complete an "Admission to Closed/Restricted Course" form. This form must be processed by the University of Pittsburgh's Registrar's Office in order to be registered into their student system. It is the student's responsibility to provide Carnegie Mellon's University Registrar's Office with a copy of the permission slip.
2. Students wishing to cross register for more than one course must have a letter of approval from their dean. Students enrolled in an approved joint program between two PCHE institutions are exempt from the requirement of being full-time at either school. This information must be indicated on the top of the cross registration form at the time the form is submitted to the University Registrar's Office.
3. Students in their final semester should not cross-register for classes. Due to various final grade submission deadlines of the other institutions, grades are often late and may delay degree certification.
4. Auditing - If students choose to audit a class, they must adhere to the deadlines set forth by the host institution. No exceptions will be granted. Also, students must submit a course audit approval form (available at the host institution) to the CMU University Registrar's Office within the first 10 days of class.
5. Pass/Fail - If students choose to take a class at the host institution, they must adhere to the deadlines set forth by the host institution. No exceptions will be granted. Also, students must submit a pass/no pass approval form (available at the host institution) to the CMU University Registrar's Office by the deadline in the Academic Calendar.
6. The Registrar's Office of the host institution will notify student regarding whether the cross registration request has been accepted or if special permission is required for registration. If the student attends classes at the host institution after notification without first obtaining written approval, the student will not receive credit. If the course doesn't appear on student's schedule within 10 working days, contact The HUB for resolution.
7. Once The HUB has received confirmation from the host institution of enrollment; student will see a temporary placeholder course on their schedule (i.e. UPITT, CCAC etc.). Before final grades are due, the place holder course will be removed and an assigned course number and title verified by the host institution will be entered on the student's schedule.
8. Carnegie Mellon students wishing to drop their cross-registration course, should contact the University Registrar's Office. Students wishing to drop a course must adhere to the drop deadlines set forth by the host institution. No exceptions will be granted. The University Registrar’s Office will inform the host institution.

9. The host institution will report student’s final grade(s) to the University Registrar’s Office. Please be aware that final grade(s) may be delayed due to various academic calendar and grade processing schedules among PCHE institutions. PCHE institutions do not report mid-term grades.

Transfer Courses & PCHE

www.cmu.edu/policies/documents/TransferCredit.html

Carnegie Mellon University offers students the opportunity to take courses for credit through a cross-registration program (see Pittsburgh Council on Higher Education (PCHE) and Cross-registration below) and through the receipt of transfer credit from other accredited institutions. The Carnegie Mellon University transcript will include information on such courses as follows: Carnegie Mellon courses and courses taken through the university's cross-registration program will have grades recorded on the transcript and be factored into the QPA. All other courses will be recorded on this transcript indicating where the course was taken, but without grade. Such courses will not be taken into account for academic actions, honors or QPA calculations. (Note: suspended students may take courses elsewhere; however, they may receive transfer credit only if their college and department's policies allow this.)

Department Policy for transfer credit

- Acceptance of transfer credit towards the requirements for a School of Music master’s degree is approved by special permission via a School of Music general petition directed to the Graduate Studies Committee.
- The credit must be documented by an official transcript from an accredited university or conservatory showing an A or B grade for the courses or courses and the course description must also be included. The student may be required to provide supporting documentation that may include the syllabus and/or work completed for the course.
- If the transfer credit is approved, units but not grades will be listed on the student’s CMU transcript.
- Transfer credit may not be approved if the courses are not graduate level and/or not relevant to a music master’s degree.

Courses to be completed remotely or for study off-campus

- For questions relating to distance education, or coursework completed off campus, students should contact Sharon Johnston.
- If a student holds a Bachelor’s degree in a discipline other than music and wishes to pursue the Master’s Degree in Music, and is accepted into the program, there may be additional remedial courses that will be required for degree completion.
- Students will follow the course add/drop procedure and timeline set forth by the university registrar’s office. The deadlines for add/drop can be found in the academic calendar. In order to add/drop a course, students should first consult with the Graduate Student Advisor, Natalie Ozeas.
Grades and Grading

- Normally, graduate credit earned at other institutions will not be accepted toward a graduate program at Carnegie Mellon. Students may petition for an exception to this policy.
- The School of Music follows the grading policy set forth by Carnegie Mellon University. Specifically, grading for School of Music classes is based on the requirements outlined in the syllabus for the class; grading for School of Music ensembles is based on the requirements stated in the written policies for the ensemble, which may include attendance. A detailed grading policy can be found here.
- Students must stay in successful academic standing in order to receive the Master of Music degree.
  - This is defined as maintaining a cumulative QPA of at least a 3.0 or higher and no grade below a “B”, maintaining the professional standards of the school, and making sufficient progress each semester.
- The School of Music follows the College of Fine Arts guidelines for academic actions. This policy can be found here.
- University Policy on Grades
  www.cmu.edu/policies/documents/Grades.html
  This policy offers details concerning university grading principles for students taking courses and covers the specifics of assigning and changing grades, grading options, drop/withdrawals and course repeats. It also defines the undergraduate and graduate grading standards.
- Policy on Grades for Transfer Courses
  www.cmu.edu/policies/documents/TransferCredit.html
  Carnegie Mellon University offers students the opportunity to take courses for credit through a cross-registration program (see Pittsburgh Council on Higher Education (PCHE) and Cross-registration below) and through the receipt of transfer credit from other accredited institutions. The Carnegie Mellon University transcript will include information on such courses as follows: Carnegie Mellon courses and courses taken through the university's cross-registration program will have grades recorded on the transcript and be factored into the QPA. All other courses will be recorded on this transcript indicating where the course was taken, but without grade. Such courses will not be taken into account for academic actions, honors or QPA calculations. (Note: Suspended students may take courses elsewhere; however, they may receive transfer credit only if their college and department's policies allow this.)
- Courses that are graded as Pass/Fail cannot count towards the Master’s Degree.
- When a course is repeated, all grades will be recorded on the official academic transcript and will be calculated in the student's QPA. This is the case regardless if the first grade for the course is a passing or failing grade. When a student takes a course s/he has already passed, only one set of units will count towards graduation requirements.

Independent Study/Directed Reading (if applicable)

- To register for an Independent Study, a music student must write a brief proposal, obtain the approval of a full-time music faculty member as supervisor of the independent study, and submit an Independent Study permission form that has been signed by the student and the faculty supervisor. Students register for an Independent Study on a semester-by-semester basis, with the same registration and grade deadlines as for a class.

Teaching Requirements

- The School of Music does not typically offer any Graduate Teaching Assistantships.

Internship/Co-op Requirement

- An internship or co-op is not required but can be taken as an elective. For more information contact the Director of Student Services, Sharon Johnston.

Non-thesis Research Requirements

- All Graduate Students pursuing the Master of Music degree are required to complete a Graduate Comprehensive Project
  - The Graduate Comprehensive Project serves as a capstone review to the master’s degree curriculum in which the student analyzes, researches, and writes about the music to be performed on his or her final graduate recital. The National Association of Schools of Music, the accrediting agency for Carnegie Mellon’s School of Music, mandates that candidates for the Masters Degree in Music successfully pass a comprehensive review as an exit requirement for the granting of the degree. In keeping with this requirement, the graduate faculty of the CMU School of Music have designed a final project that meets this objective while maintaining a strong relevance to each student’s major area of study, whether performance, composition, or conducting.

Description/Outline of Common or Regular Reviews & Evaluations by School

In addition to evaluations during individual classes, School of Music graduate students are evaluated in one or both of two ways:

- By the School of Music faculty during a faculty meeting scheduled immediately after the end of every semester specifically for the purpose of reviewing the overall academic performance of students in academic difficulty in a class or classes. The joint written evaluation is mailed to the student immediately after the meeting and includes a description of the procedure for the student to question or appeal the evaluation.
- By the applicable School of Music studio faculty during juries scheduled at the end of every semester specifically for the purpose of reviewing the studio performance of all performance majors. The studio faculty prepares their students for the juries. The individual written evaluations are provided to the student immediately after the jury. Students can discuss the jury evaluations with their studio teachers.

An unsatisfactory evaluation can result in the student being placed on academic action or dropped from the School of Music. If the student is placed on academic action, conditions for the student to meet to return to good academic standing are communicated to the student and advice and support are provided by advisors, faculty, and the university as applicable, and the student is re-evaluated after the end of the following semester.

Graduate Certification Process and Degree Title

- The degree will appear on the diploma as follows:
  - Master of Music
  - Master of Science

Process for Taking & Returning from Leave of Absence
University process: http://www.cmu.edu/hub/registration/leave.html
- Student Leave Of Absence
  - A leave of absence should be taken when a student is, for any reason, unable to participate fully in the professional program of the School of Music for an extended period of time. A Leave of Absence Form must be submitted and can be found here: http://www.cmu.edu/hub/forms.html If the leave is taken before the drop deadline for a semester, all courses will be dropped from the student's transcript for that semester and this will not reflect adversely on the student's record. All payments will be refunded if a leave is taken before the first day of the semester. Information about tuition adjustment after a semester begins can be found here: http://www.cmu.edu/hub/tuition/adjustment.html

- Student Professional Opportunities
  - Musical performance opportunities do not wait until you’re out of school to present themselves, but all are not equally important. Your private instructor is your primary source of information on the value of an opportunity. Or, if the opportunity conflicts with your School responsibilities, the affected instructor's approval must be obtained. If an opportunity arises that does not conflict with any of your School responsibilities, check with your studio teacher for advice. If an opportunity comes up that conflicts with your responsibilities either during the semester or at the beginning of the semester or at the end of the semester, but it appears to be a rare opportunity, check with your studio teacher and with the professor(s) whose class(es) or rehearsal(s) you would need to miss. You must not commit yourself until you have received permission to participate from the School, and in the case of an audition opportunity, until you have contacted the applicable organization about scheduling your audition to minimize conflicts with your School of Music responsibilities. You must submit an Excused Absence Petition Form, available here: http://music.cfa.cmu.edu/ or CFA 108

- School policies on Attendance and Leave of Absence can be found here.

Student-Professor Relationship

- Students are expected to maintain a professional demeanor when interacting with School of Music faculty and professors.

Advising

- Philosophy
  - The School of Music seeks to graduate every student accepted into its program. Much care is given, therefore, to the selection process. While an emphasis is placed on the audition, the academic profile of each student is considered carefully before acceptance into the program is granted. Students are accepted as music majors only when the professional faculty feel they have potential for careers in music, and their college records indicate they are also capable of succeeding academically at Carnegie Mellon.

- Structure
  - The School of Music has a three-tier system of advising: Academic Advisor (Director of Student Services for undergraduate students, Director of Graduate Studies for graduate students), Professional Advisor, and School Head.

- The Role of the Advisor
  - Academic Advisor
    - The School of Music’s Director of Student Services and Director of Graduate Studies follow the students from the beginning of their association with the School through their graduation - overseeing the student’s registration, providing guidance and advice on the selection of required courses and electives; approving course overloads; checking progress towards completion of curricular requirements; auditing all requirements for graduation; and certifying the student’s degree. As academic advisors, the Director of Student Services and the Director of Graduate Studies monitor the student’s progress in the School, and alert the administration if problems develop.
    - One of the services offered through the Student Services Office is the dissemination of information about music competitions, summer work and summer music festivals, scholarship and fellowship opportunities, and permanent job postings. Information is also collected about other graduate schools in music. Assistance is provided in applying for all of these opportunities.

  - Professional Advisor
    - The private studio teacher is the student’s primary professional advisor; this person provides ongoing professional and career guidance as well as specific feedback on the student's level of talent and potential for work in the profession. Every student in the School of Music studies privately with a member of the performance, composition, or conducting faculty; this provides at least one hour per week of one-on-one instruction. Since studio is the focus of the music major’s training, students often select a school because of their desire to study with a specific master teacher.

- School Head
  - The final level of overseeing for the School of Music's advising system lies in the office of the School Head, as is the case for all aspects of the School's operations. Any student who is exhibiting difficulty in their program is actively counseled by the Professional Advisor, the Director of Student Services or Director of Graduate Studies, and the Head of the School.

- The Role of the Student
  - Graduate students are expected to be active participants in discussions and decisions related to their graduate study and responsible for tracking and completing their graduation requirements. They are informed about and encouraged to take advantage of the advising resources in the School of Music and at the university that will assist them with their academic achievement, professional development, and career management.

- The Advising Process
  - Assigning Advisors
    - All School of Music graduate students are advised by the Director of Graduate Studies. Other music faculty may also be the student's professional advisor; this person provides ongoing professional and career guidance in his/her area of expertise, in response to the student's interest in that area and in a mentor relationship. For example, a student who is interested in Dalcroze Eurhythmics may also be advised by one of our eurhythmics faculty; a student who is interested in conducting may also be advised by one of our conducting faculty. Students and faculty may enter into mentor relationships directly or with the facilitation of the Director of Student Services or Director of Graduate Studies.

  - Monitoring Advisors
    - School of Music advisors consult frequently with one another to coordinate academic and professional support for a student, referrals for the student, and to confirm academic policies applicable to the student. Advisors keep advising notes and give written documents to the Director of Student Services to place in the student's file as appropriate.

  - Communicating Unsatisfactory Academic Progress
    - Once enrolled, a student is expected to make strong musical and academic progress. Each semester when grades are issued, a list is made of all graduate music students who have a “C”, “D” or “R” in a course or a “C” in major studio. This list is compiled by the Director of Student Services and sent to the School Head. The faculty as a group discusses every student experiencing difficulty in the program in special grades meetings at the conclusion of each semester. Students who fall short of the school standards are placed on academic action and notified... of the action, the reason(s) for the action, and the conditions that must be met to remove the action in a letter from the School Head.

- Occasionally it is determined by the faculty that a student is not succeeding in the program. The School administration will advise a student of this concern as soon as it can be determined. At the point of being dropped, the student will be advised carefully and personally of the options available: to transfer to another music program in another setting or to transfer to another department at Carnegie Mellon University.

Summary of Graduate Student Appeal and Grievance Procedures
http://www.cmu.edu/graduate/policies/Summary%20of%20Graduate%20Student%20Appeal%20and%20Grievance%20Procedures.html.

Graduate students will find the Summary of Graduate Student Appeal and Grievance Procedures on the Graduate Education Resource webpage. This document summarizes processes available to graduate students who seek review of academic and non-academic issues. Generally, graduate students are expected to seek informal resolution of all concerns within the applicable department, unit or program before invoking formal processes. When an informal resolution cannot be reached, however, a graduate student who seeks further review of the matter is to follow the formal procedures outlined here. These appeal and grievance procedures shall apply to students in all graduate programs of the University. Students should refer to the department specific information in this handbook for department and college information about the administration and academic policies of the program. Additionally, students may confer with the graduate student ombudsman, Suzie Laurich-McIntyre, slaurichmcintyre@cmu.edu, on issues of process or other concerns as they navigate conflicts

Policy Against Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault

Sexual harassment and sexual assault are prohibited by CMU, as is retaliation for having brought forward a concern or allegation in good faith. The policy can be viewed in its entirety at: http://www.cmu.edu/policies/documents/SA_SH.htm. If you believe you have been the victim of sexual harassment or sexual assault, you are encouraged to make contact with any of the following resources:

• Office of Title IX Initiatives, http://www.cmu.edu/title-ix/, 412-268-7125
• Sexual Harassment Advisors, found in appendix A of the Policy Against Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault;

Maternity Accommodation Protocol
http://www.cmu.edu/student-
Students whose anticipated delivery date is during the course of the semester may consider taking time away from their coursework and/or research responsibilities. All female students who give birth to a child while engaged in coursework or research are eligible to take either a short-term absence or formal leave of absence. Students in course work should consider either working with their course instructor to receive incomplete grades, or elect to drop to part-time status or to take a semester leave of absence. Students engaged in research must work with their faculty to develop plans for the research for the time they are away.

Students are encouraged to consult with relevant university faculty and staff as soon as possible as they begin making plans regarding time away. Students must contact the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs to register for Maternity Accommodations. Students will complete an information form and meet with a member of the Dean’s Office staff to determine resources and procedures appropriate for the individual student. Planning for the student’s discussion with her academic contact(s) (advisor, associate dean, etc.) will be reviewed during this meeting.

New Policies/“Grandfather” Policy
When policies are changed it is because the department believes the new rules offer an improvement; any such changes will be discussed at a meeting with the graduate students. However, students currently enrolled whose degree program is affected by a change in policy may choose to be governed by the older policy that was in place at the time of their matriculation. In case degree requirements are changed and certain courses are no longer offered, the department will try to find some compromise that allows those students to satisfy the original requirements.

Vacations and Time-Off
Graduate students who have been placed in an assistantship are expected to perform the duties within the times as assigned by the faculty or staff they have been assigned to. There is no paid time off or vacation given to graduate students. Students are not required to work on University Holidays.

University Holidays:
- New Year's Day
